WORLDSPACE SET TO LAUNCH FIRST EVER GO-GO MUSIC SATELLITE RADIO SHOW

WHO: Host- Charles “Shorty Corleone” Garris, Rappers, Actors, & Singers

WHAT: Global Satellite Radio Show

WHEN: June 2007

WHERE: WorldSpace.com
Channel (204) “The Flava”

WHY: “The Flava” is pleased to welcome “Shorty Corleone” to their expanding lineup. Shorty has become a staple in the Washington, DC music scene for over a decade now. He began working with Verdine White (Earth, Wind & Fire) in the late 80’s and excelled quickly in learning very complicated vocal arrangements. He continues to lead the area with the most creative & artistic sounds to come out of the Chocolate City. While working with one of the top Go-Go bands “Rare Essence” has been a great sense of satisfaction for him, he decided it would be very beneficial to reach out to a larger audience with the sound via satellite technology. That’s where World Space comes in. Shorty will host his own weekly radio show on “The Flava” channel 204, playing the latest in hip hop & go-go music. The show will be aired in over 50 countries, from Asia to Africa. Not only will Shorty be interviewing the hottest artist on the Billboard charts right now, he will also, speak about a lot of the current geo-political issues concerning the inner cities throughout the world. Now that Shorty has his own radio show heard around the globe, we can only imagine the energy and creativity he will put into launching this new era of go-go music.
